9 Guidelines (not rules or laws) for Creative Visualization

Mike Dooley

- 1 One time a day is all that's necessary. You don't need to do it more. You can take weekends off.
- 2 No longer than 5 to 10 minutes at a time. Use a timer. If you try to visualize longer, you'll invariably begin daydreaming and then getting angry with yourself for losing focus.
- 3 Ritualize it. Make a daily routine out of it, like you do for brushing your teeth.
- 4 Imagine every conceivable detail. Sights, sounds, colors, textures, aromas. Make it as vivid as possible in your mind.
- 5 Feel it. Throughout each session, get into a space of joy. Fake it if you have to, and you probably will.
- 6 Script it in advance. Just a minute or so before you begin, decide upon a scenario you'll imagine moving through. Decide where you'll be, who with, doing what, when, where, why, etc.
- 7 Put yourself in the picture. Imagine yourself inside each image, experiencing all the details you're visualizing – seen from your eyes, heard from your ears, felt in your heart.
- 8 Dwell from the end result or beyond. Do not visualize HOW your dream came true. Imagine it already has!
- 9 Get physical when visualizing. Yell, shout, wave your hands, pump your fists, happy dance. Get physical and you will ramp-up serious emotion!
